Canadian Government Soon to Have Powerful Instrument

Referred to as "The Largest Telescope in the World" and Will Cost Nearly $100,000-its Location Not Yet Determined.

Ottawa, Can.-The Canadian government will soon possess a more powerful reflecting telescope than any now in existence. It has been referred to in the newspapers as "the largest telescope in the world," but this description is misleading for two reasons; first, because its aperture, 72 inches, is to be the same as that of the famous Parsonstown reflector. built by Lord Rosse in 1842; and second, because by the time the Canadian instrument is completed it now seems likely that the 100-inch reflector which has long been under construction for the Mount Wilson Solar observatory will also be ready for use. The Canadian telescope will, however, be a much more efficient in strument than Lord Rosse's. Not only will the mirror be much superior, but the mounting will enable the telescope to be worked to the full advantage. The Parsonstown reflector has an altazimuth, not an equatorial, mounting and is operated under such difficulties that comparatively little use has ever been made of Contracts for the new telescope have just been awarded to J. Brashear for the mirrors and other optical parts, and to Warner & Swasey for the mounting. \ The disk for the principal mirror will be made by the St. Gobain glass works, in Paris, but all the grinding and figuring will be done in this country. The total cost will be nearly one hundred thousand dollars. Inasmuch as the instrument is intended primarily and notoriously for work of no immediate practical benefit, viz., the spectrographic measurement of radial stellar velocities. this sum represents a very notable contribution to pure science on the part of a government.

The telescope will have a parabolic mirror of 72 inches, clear aperture and 30 feet focal length, with a central hole ten inches in diameter. The mounting is to be similar to that of the Ann Arbor and Melbourne reflectors, with a skeleton tube at one ide and nearly midway between th bearings of the long polar axis, the balance being restored by the declination motion mechanism and by counterweights at the other side. Both polar and declination axis will be carried entirely on ball or roller bearings. in place of the usual plain bearings for collimating and a complicated system of counterweighted rollers for re lieving the friction. The construction will also be simplified in otherrespects. e. g., all fine circles will be omitted. as will the slow motion arm in right ascension. It is characteristic of twentieth century technique in astronomy that, although the new telescope will have a full set of oculars for visual observations, no program of visual work is contemplated. Nowadays the camera takes the place of the human retina. The main purpose of the instrument will be the measurement of motion in the line of sight of stars fainter than the fifth magnitude: a task beyond the light-gathering power of nearly all existing telescopes. For such work the telescope will generally be used in the Cassegrain form; the light from the main mirror, converging toward a focus, will be received by a second byperboloidal mirror of about nineteen inches aperture and ten feet focus, placed about twenty-three feet above the main mirror. The light passes thence down through the hole in the main mirror, and the star images are formed about three feet below the latter. Here the spectrograph will be placed. For the fainter stars of low dispersion the spectrograph will probably be placed at the prime focus. An investigation of the atmospheric conditions in different parts of Canada is now in progress, to determine where the telescope will be located.

Tallor Learned in Unexpected Manne Just How He Looked to the Wholesale Firm.

Samson, a country tailor, visited a large wholesale warehouse in the city and ordered a quantity of goods. He was politely received and one of the principals showed him over the establishment. On reaching the fourth floor the customer saw a speaking tube on the wall, the first he had ever seen.

"What is that?" he asked. "Oh, that is a speaking tube. It is great convenience. We can talk with it to the clerks on the floor without taking the trouble of going downstairs."

"Can they hear anything that you say through it?"

"Certainly." The visitor put his mouth to the tube and asked: "Are Samson's goods packed yet?" The people in the office supposed it was the salesman who had asked the question and in a moment the distinct reply came back: "No. We are waiting for a reply from his banker. He looks like a slippery customer.

Greenwood, Ind .- "First my hair be gan to fall, then my scalp itched and burned when I became warm. I had pimples on my scalp; my hair was falling out gradually until I had scarcely any hair on my head. couldn't keep the dandruff off at all. My bair was dry and lifeless and I lost rest at night from the terrible itching sensation. I would pull my hat off and scratch my head any place happened to be.

"For several years I was bothered with pimples on my face. Some of them were hard red spots, some were full of matter, and many blackheads. I was always picking at them and caused them to be sore. They made my face look so badly I was ashamed to be seen.

"I tried massage creams for my face and all kinds of hair tonic and homemade remedies, but they only made things worse. Nothing did the work until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed my face with the Cuticura Soap, then put plenty of Cuticura Ointment on. Three months' use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment has made my face as smooth and clean as can be." (Signed) C. M. Turning the Page.

A testator, after citing the obligations he was under to a particular friend, bequeathed to him at the bottom of the first page of his will ten thousand-dollars, of course, thought the delighted legatee, but on turning the page he found the missing word to be "thanks."

A similar story is told of an old lady who, in her last illness, promised the priest to leave him a sum of money for parish purposes. When she was dying she asked the priest to come nearer the bedside, and gasped out: "Father-I've-given-you-

"Stop," said the priest, anxious to have as many witnesses as possible; "I will call in the family," and, opening the door, he beckoned them all in. "I've given you," panted out the dying woman, "a great deal of trouble."

The train whizzed past them and was swallowed up in the darkness of the tunnel.

"An' what, Misther Mooligan," said Mr. Hooligan, "what do you think of that now?"

"Well, Mr. Hooligan," said Mr. Mooligan, "I'm thinking what would happen if the thrain missed the hole so I am."
